

VIEW OF COURT TO SPEAK TONIGHT

Aldermen Apply to Courts For Expression of Opinion on the Question.

DID THEY WANT TO PREVENT HOLDING OF PUBLIC MEETING?

Judges Declare Public May Express Opinion Without Fear of Arrest.

That any citizen who might speak at the public meeting in the old McLeod church, Methodist, Church, on the subject of the contemplated dismissal of Commissioner Bouillon would render himself liable to arrest for contempt of court, is a declaration which was made by Chief Justice Harvey this morning by City Solicitor Dean and George B. O'Connor, representing the judicial members of the city council. It is recalled that the public meeting was called in the afternoon of Saturday, Feb. 25, at 8 o'clock, and that citizens might freely express their opinion on the situation so long as no criticism was made of the court.

Now in the hands of the members of the council on Saturday morning, the contemplated dismissal of the utilities commissioner was brought within the ken of the court. At an all ordinary meeting, settlement by the judicial authorities, discussion in the press or on the platform of the question at issue may constitute contempt of court, it is recalled to the solicitors representing the council to make application for an injunction as a means of preventing the holding of the public meeting this evening.

What if they have been taken by the solicitors for the council to prevent interfering citizens from the street for airing their views at the meeting and to guard the court from contempt. Or it may be that the purpose was to prevent, if possible, public discussion of the council's plans until they had been carried into effect.

At any rate, Alderman Melnick was one of the parties most interested in the outcome of the application to the Chief Justice. He went a good deal of the morning at the court and conferred with the council representing the city and the department of the judge. The result of the conference was announced to the press by the chief justice in his application to the judge for an expression of opinion.

The mayor and Alderman of Edmonton will appear before the Chief Justice in chambers tomorrow morning at 10.30 on the hearing of the application for an order of injunction to prevent the holding of the public meeting on the subject of the dismissal of Commissioner Bouillon until the trial of the case is over. The position of the action commenced by the city council on the dismissal of Commissioner Bouillon is being defended by the city solicitor, Geo. C. P. Brown and Geo. B. O'Connor, representing the individual interested defendants in the suit.

Ad. Hyndman to be Present.
Ad. Hyndman will be present for the meeting tonight. The alderman will be sought to be present to step in to their efforts to bring about the dismissal of Commissioner Bouillon, who was able to leave his home this morning for the first time in a week, after being confined in bed for a long time by a severe attack of influenza. Although he is in very good trim as yet, he will be present at the meeting tonight with Ad. Hyndman to be present to step in to their efforts to bring about the dismissal of Commissioner Bouillon, who was able to leave his home this morning for the first time in a week, after being confined in bed for a long time by a severe attack of influenza.

Petition Largely Signed.
Up till one o'clock today the names of four hundred and eighty citizens had been attached to the petition being circulated in the city. The names of Mayor Lee and certain other ex-mayors and ex-aldermen to stand for election in case Mayor Lee were elected to the present council resign. One hundred and thirty-five were on the petition, which was circulated out of Kinross avenue and the city hall. Two districts are yet to be reported from, viz. those north of the C. N. R. tracks east and west of First Street. There are, in addition, a number of names which have been circulated without regard to locality, that have not yet been reported.

Mr. Martin's office in 21 Jasper street to send out the petition. A number of these carried copies of the petition around, away from the city hall, in the impossibility of locating these up till going to press, leave the exact number unknown. It is recalled that the petition was signed by the following:

CHILDREN MAY NOT SEE PICTURE SHOWS.

Quebec, Feb. 26.—Sir Louis Gouin has given notice to the Legislative Assembly that on Thursday next he will move the first reading of a bill concerning moving picture exhibitions.

The object of the measure is to make it illegal for children under fourteen years of age to attend moving picture shows unless they are accompanied by their parents or guardians.

AN INJUNCTION STOPS COUNCIL

ORDER ISSUED BY CHIEF JUSTICE PREVENTS DISSOLUTION OF BOULTON.

Checked-meat by an injunction issued in the Supreme Court by Chief Justice Harvey the city council was prevented from dissolving the office of Commissioner Boulton at the special meeting called for Saturday night, and will now be obliged to defer action until after the ratification meeting to be held this evening in the old McDougall church for the purpose of discussing the proposed action.

The injunction was sprung on the council like a bolt from the blue on Saturday evening. The announcement having been made, the council will now discuss the matter at this special meeting, because began to gather long before the hour for which it was called. By 8.40 o'clock was taken and before seven o'clock there was no standing room. By 12.30 policemen were stationed at the entrance to the city hall and an expectant crowd, rapidly growing in number, had gathered upon the street, having been refused admittance to the crowded building.

Interesting Incidents. While the authorities were not without interesting incidents those for the most part were enacted, not in the council chamber, but in the hall. The council chamber was crowded with the Mayor, but no meeting could be held there. The crowd gathered in the council chamber, eagerly awaiting the hot debate to which they had hoped to take part. The crowd gathered in the council chamber, eagerly awaiting the hot debate to which they had hoped to take part.

Mayor's Injunction. The Mayor's injunction arrived at eight o'clock in the city and O. M. Bigger, Ald. McNicoll and Ald. Gowan were clustered together in the secretary-treasurer's office, awaiting the arrival of the remainder of the city council. The crowd sat expectant in the council chamber and a group of newspaper men were discussing the situation at the head of the stairs. Mr. Bigger, back bag in hand, striped tie, and having given the first cheer alone towards the door of the secretary-treasurer's office, the newspaper men's suspicions aroused, following in procession.

The black bag was opened, the documents produced and copies graciously tendered to each of the aldermen. Despite Mr. Bigger's gentlemanly manner and the grace with which he made the presentation, both aldermen flatly refused to take the document.

"I won't take it," said Ald. Gowan, petulantly. "Not for me," said Ald. McNicoll, as he thrust his hands deep into his trousers pockets. "Would not be repeated."

Mr. Bigger, however, decided to be repaid in this ungracious manner and, taking a copy of each of the aldermen and after showing them the original order stepped back to await the arrival of the others. Though somewhat coy at first the two city fathers after a brief interview ventured a side glance at the documents and their curiosity at last got the better of them, gathered courage and glanced, though with some diffidence, at their contents.

Ald. Gowan said little. Ald. McNicoll said much. Having first expressed his opinion very frankly regarding the attitude of the Bulletin and Journal, he turned his attention to Commissioner Boulton.

"Boulton," he said, "is a cad and a coward. Why can't he take his dismissal like a man?" One of the members of the press suggested that the haste of the council to dismiss the commissioner was due to the fact that they were waiting until the public meeting called for Monday had been held so that they might ascertain the feeling of the electors.

"It's nothing to do with the public," said Ald. McNicoll, emphatically. "The council appointed him and we can dismiss him." The crowd gathered in the council chamber, eagerly awaiting the hot debate to which they had hoped to take part. The crowd gathered in the council chamber, eagerly awaiting the hot debate to which they had hoped to take part.

the council, sat apart unnoticed, and growing tired of his position left at last for home.

Crowd Sat Tight. Meanwhile the crowd in the council chamber and outside the city hall sat tight. Numerous persons advised them that there would be no meeting, but they would not be persuaded to disperse until the Mayor in person made the announcement. Then some one of their number called for three cheers for Boulton. The response was made with vigor and caught up by the crowd on the street. The call for three cheers for Mayor Armstrong met with no response.

Mr. Boulton is therefore still commissioner, and at tonight's meeting of the ratification to be held in the old McDougall church the public will have the opportunity to give expression to its views for the guidance of the council.

TO FIGHT DISSMISSAL THROUGH THE COURTS

Citizens Take Action in the Supreme Court to Prevent the Discharge of the Utilities Commissioner by the Council From Personal Feeling.

The injunction issued by Chief Justice Harvey, Saturday, in Supreme Court, restraining the city council from holding a council meeting on Saturday night and dissolving Commissioner Boulton before noon on Tuesday was granted on two grounds set out by the plaintiff and in the contention of O. M. Bigger, acting for the applicants. They were (1) that the notice of the special meeting should not be granted, restraining the council from dissolving Commissioner Boulton from personal feeling; and (2) that the proposed dismissal by the council could not be justified on public grounds but was the result of personal feeling.

Before the Chief Justice at 10.30 tomorrow the mayor and aldermen will be required to appear and show cause why a permanent injunction should not be granted, restraining the council from dissolving Commissioner Boulton from personal feeling. The aldermen further outlined the serious damage to the city and the harm to the public which would be done by the council's action. He referred to the council meeting on Feb. 14th when the Commissioner had stated that he refused to be questioned by a committee with a chairman in the person of Ald. Mould, as he had constituted the personal enemy of Mr. Boulton. The aldermen further outlined the serious damage to the city and the harm to the public which would be done by the council's action.

In the application for the injunction of Aldermen McKinley, Robert Parquharson, H. Miltar, Martin, C. Gallagher, H. H. Hyndman, Frank B. Smith, H. H. Alexander and H. J. Dawson were presented and filed in the court.

Ald. McNicoll in his sworn statement set out the history of the action for the dismissal of the Commissioner. He referred to the council meeting on Feb. 14th when the Commissioner had stated that he refused to be questioned by a committee with a chairman in the person of Ald. Mould, as he had constituted the personal enemy of Mr. Boulton. The aldermen further outlined the serious damage to the city and the harm to the public which would be done by the council's action.

The affidavit proceeding further referred to the resolution for a public meeting proposed on Thursday night. The Mayor was advised that the old McDougall church was available for Friday or Saturday night, but he day night and another meeting or council meeting on Friday night and when this was refused, he held the Saturday night. Notice sent to Ald. McNicoll for the Saturday night meeting was produced and put in as an exhibit.

Proceedings at Meeting. Robert Parquharson in his affidavit described the proceedings in the injunction meeting held on Wednesday morning in the board of trade rooms and also specified the resolutions there passed.

The other defendants in their declaration swore that they believed the council in attempting to dismiss Commissioner Boulton were actuated by personal ill-feeling and not in the best interests of the city. They expressed the belief that the public meeting was set down at a date after the council in order to let Commissioner Boulton out of office before the public had an opportunity to express its feelings at the meeting called by request of the ratepayers.

ANNUAL PRESS DINNER.
